General Gilehrist is making frequent repetition of his Ocala statement that he is "not on the prohibition band wayon," and that he favors local option. The general is no doubt honest in his opposition to state prohibition and is to be commended for declaring his exact standing. But he doubt the declaring his exact standing. But he doubt the first the bridge will, therefore, not be built.

But he should remember that the people of Florida have gone out after the scalp of the Florida saloon and that they are going to have the scalp. They will, therefore, not stand for any man in office who is not with them. And then again, the general should know that every saloon keeper in the state is also a local optionist and that in standing with them his own scalp is in danger-his political scalp.

The News trusts that voters will exercise no undue haste in picking favorites for office in the coming as mailable matter of the second state primary. There are many more very excellent citizens of Jacksonville who may wish to declare their intentions.

One of the most disgraceful acts ever perpetrated by men having or-dinary intelligence was the resolu-tion adopted by the Business Men's League (supposedly liquor dealers), of Jacksonville, last Friday, when they condemned and called upon the school board to stop the children in public schools from being taught the doctrines of prohibition, the singing of prohibition songs, and listening to the prohibition addresses. This is a deadly parallel to the speech of one of the officers of the Ohio State Liquor League, when he told the assembled saloon men that "the future of your business depends upon the creation of appetite among the boys, and that nickels spent in treats with the boys will return dollars to your tills after the appetite has been formed." Must the cradle and school houses be robbed of our boys to keep the saloon men in business? This one act of the Jacksonville "business men" should turn the vote of every father for prohibition .- St Lucie Co.

The Anti-Saloon people of Florida ongratulate the great state of Alabama upon the fact that in but little more than thirteen months, the sa-oons of that state must close. The anti-liquor fight has been a gallant one and following the successful fight in Georgia, it must have a tremendous influence on the effect of the campaigns which are now being conducted in adjoining states for the absolute elimination of the liquor

We also commend the legislature of Alabama upon the spirit of fair-ness exhibited in fixing the date on which the prohibition statute will take effect far enough ahead to enable the liquor men to get out of the business with as little loss as possi-ble. It pays to be fair, and in a case where the moral issue is as domi-nant and as emphatic as it is in this fight for freedom from the saloon, there is all the more reason why the utmost fairness should be shown. Florida will follow Georgia and
